Comprising the

COINAGE OF MEXICO, CENTRAL AMERICA, SOUTH AMERICA AND THE WEST INDIES

Arranged by Edgar H. Adams

NEW YORK, 1929

IN presenting this catalogue to students and numismatists throughout the world, it is done with the knowledge that it is not yet fully complete. Still I believe it is the best publication on the coins of Latin-America that has appeared up to the present time.

The collection was started at the suggestion of Mr. Edgar H. Adams, the compiler of this book, and he has at all times given me every encouragement possible to make it as complete as it is today. Mr. Adams has done all the work of preparing the catalogue, including the preparation of the photographs. This latter was a work of particular difficulty since the photographs had to be made from coins of different metal at the same time, and I feel sure that collectors and others will appreciate the general excellence of the results. I cannot thank Mr. Adams sufficiently for the amount of labor which he has expended in preparing this book for publication.

Perhaps I shall publish another list on Latin-American coins, and for this reason I would be glad to receive from other collectors plaster casts or photographs of any coins pertaining to this series which are not included here, so that should another edition go forth in years to come it will include as many varieties as possible.

JULIUS GUTTAG.

Introduction

While Mr. Guttag has endeavored to bring together every available specimen of the Latin-American series, still it has been his especial aim to show the first designs of the issues of the New World for Santo Domingo, Mexico and Peru. That there was a distinct series of coins struck for Santo Domingo has not been ascertained definitely, but we think that the list of pieces shown under the heading of "Santo Domingo" have probably all been issued in or for that country. At any rate, they cannot reasonably be attributed to any other country of the New World. In order to make the series as complete as possible, we have illustrated all of the pieces of this character which are contained in other collections, chiefly that of Senor Manuel Vidal Quadras y Ramon, of Spain.

The first varieties of coins issued for Mexico, as listed here, are very likely those of similar design to the three reales piece, which undoubtedly was one of the very first denominations to be struck for that country, and which was shortly thereafter discontinued owing to the fact that it was confused with the two reales. There is on record a full series of denominations bearing the distinctive marks of the three reales, except the eight reales, and up to this time no authenticated specimen of that denomination has been reported, notwithstanding that early employes of the mint have stated that such a piece was struck.

In the Peruvian series, which followed that of Mexico in seniority, there is little doubt that the eight reales and the quarter real, Nos. 3993 and 3994, were the first coins issued, as they conform closely in design to the law of Philip II., which provided that the devices should be those used by his father, Charles V., and which are the only coins of Peru which show this design. In various collections have been shown the other denominations of this series—namely, four, two, one and one-half reales.

Another aim of Mr. Guttag has been to show so far as the coins themselves can do just what was the period in which the "cob" pieces were struck. According to a contract between Philip II. and a Dr. Vellerino, of August 9, 1598, a plan was provided to make coins by cutting off the end of silver bars, of the proper size and weight, and then stamping them with the royal arms. This gave rise to the issue of "cob" pieces which had such a general circulation throughout the entire area of South and Central America, Mexico and neighboring countries. This species of currency was known under various names, such as "cabo de barra," "macuquina" and "cob."

Although this method of striking coins had been provided for as early as 1598, it seems that it was not put into practice until many years later. It is uncertain when the first pieces were struck, but apparently it was not until about 1652. The first pieces for Peru and Mexico were made about this time, judging by the dates of the known specimens, although they may have been made earlier. There is also uncertainty about the time this style of coinage was discontinued. Mexico apparently issued them for but a short period, the earliest "cob" piece in Mr. Guttag's collection being dated 1652 and the latest 1662. The first issue for Peru, as shown in the collection, was dated 1652 and the latest 1772, and this notwithstanding that laws had expressly stated that only circular coins should be struck at the Spanish Mints.

NOTE—After the death of Dessalines, Henri Christophe established himself in the north, while Alexandre Sabes Petion took possession of the southern part of the island. Coins bearing the name of Christophe are not known after those of 1808, although there were quite a number of pattern pieces, of various denominations, issued until and including 1820, when Christophe committed suicide. For a time the forces of Christophe and Petion fought until hostilities were suspended in 1810, when Christophe declared himself King, and Petion retained control of the southern section. The first coins bearing the title of "Republic of Hayti" were dated 1813, or "AN 10," and these seemed to have answered general purposes for the island. In 1817 coins of various denominations bearing the bust and title of Petion were issued, and these were followed by coins bearing the bust and title of Gen. Jean Pierre Boyer, who succeeded Petion in 1818, and in 1822 became master of the entire island. Boyer held the Presidency of the Republic of Hayti until 1843, when he was driven from the island by a revolution.

In 1844 the people at the eastern end of the island formed the Dominican Republic, and several Presidents ruled over the western end of Hayti. The first of these is Louis Pierrot, who governed from April 16, 1845, to March 1, 1846. It is difficult to attribute with certainty to which government the coins of 1846 may belong, but it is thought that at least the three following may be assigned to Pierrot:

Louis Pierrot—April 16, 1845-March 1, 1846

MEXICO

Charles and Johanna—1536—1555

2423A—Three Reales. Ob. KAROLVS ET IOHANA; Rev. ISPANIE ET (ornament) INDIARVS (ornament) (Gothic) m. Three dots between the pillars.

This is the only variety known of the coin of the denomination of three reales. Owing to the confusion resulting from the close similarity of this denomination with that of the two reales the three reales was discontinued very soon after its first appearance, and probably was only struck during the first year's operation of the mint.

This undoubtedly is the first type of the coins struck at the Mexican mint. When the law for the first coinage of Mexico was passed on May 11, 1535, provision was made for the striking of the silver cuartillo, or quarter real; half real, 1 real, 2 reales, and 3 reales.

Although not provided for by this law, a four reales also was struck. It is said that the Indians, being little accustomed to coins, passed the two reales for three, and vice versa, which confusion resulted in a law on November 18, 1537, being passed which revoked the striking of the three reales, and gave authority for the coinage of four reales, and provided that eight reales might be coined if found expedient. The design represents the first issue at the mint. To bear out this theory we find illustrated as No. 2, Page 66, in Medina's fine work entitled "Las Monedas Coloniales Hispano-Americanas," published in 1919, a four reales of precisely the same style as the three reales, even to the unusual repetition of the mint letter on the reverse—i. e., a Gothic "m" after "INDIARV." On Plate 26 of the "Catalogo de la Coleccion de Monedas y Medallas de Manuel Vidal Quadras y Ramon de Barcelona," 1892, No. 6912, is shown the two reales of the same design. On Plate 27, No. 6913, of the latter work is illustrated the one real. Up to this time there does not seem to be on record a half real or cuartillo of this design. As a matter of fact, a specimen of the cuartillo of the reign of Charles and Joanna of the Mexican mint of any design is not known. The piece described above as No. 2424, the only specimen known, is a variation of the two reales of Quadras y Ramon, as the mint letter is a Latin "M," which conforms closely to the law of 1535, which provided that there should be placed "donde hobiere la devisa da las colunas una M latina, para que se conozca que se hizo en Mexico." The letter "R" below the pillars stands for the assayer of the Mexican mint, Alonso del Rincon. Although an eight reales was provided for in the law that ordered the striking of four reales and rescinded the striking of three reales, yet up to the present time no authenticated specimen of this eight reales is known to numismatists.

Francisco del Rincon, who succeeded Alonso del Rincon, or at least performed the latter's duties in 1542, made the statement in 1542 during the investigation of the mint by the Visitador that the eight reales had been struck, but only for a short time, owing to the cost and difficulty of coinage. (The full text of the investigation is given in Medina's work above mentioned.) Rincon also stated that copper coins of two and four maravedis were struck at the mint, and that the coinage had been discontinued, as the copper was poor and brittle and could not withstand the hammer. The Indians of Mechoacan refined the copper where it was mined and then sent it to the mint to be coined.

2425—Two Reales. Ob. KAROLVS ET IOHANA. Rev. HISPANIARVM ET INDIAR. At either side of the coat of arms capital Latin "M's." Below the pillars "G."

This style of design is known in three denominations. The four reales is illustrated on Page 65 of Medina. The one real of similar design is shown on Plate 26 of Vidal Quadras, No. 6884. It seems quite probable that this design is one of the earliest, and follows closely that with the Gothic "m" mint letter. In fact, all the designs of the coinage of Charles and Johanna showing the word "PLVS" on an ornamented label are likely to have been among the first coins struck.

2426A—Real. Charles and Joanna. "M—P." "KAROLVS."

The style of "M" and "P" is known in four denominations. Medina illustrates the four reales on Page 66, and Vidal Quadras shows the same coin on Plate 26, No. 6909. The one real is shown by Vidal Quadras on Plate 26, No. 6881. The illustration of the obverse is quite clear, but that of the reverse is indistinct, although the cataloguer states that the word "PLVS" is on a ribbon. The one-half real is listed in the Salbach catalogue, No. 3229. All the coins of this style have the legends divided by diamond-shaped ornaments.

2427—Two Reales. Ob. KAROLVS ET IOHANA. Rev. HISPANIARVM ET INDIARV. This is also "M" and "P," but different in variety from No. 3. Vidal Quadras illustrates this variety on Plate 26, No. 6880.

2427A—Two Reales. Charles and Joanna. "P—M" (Different from any die yet seen.)

2428—Half Real. Ob. KAROLVS ET IOANA RE. Rev. HISPANIE ET INDIAR.

2429—Four Maravedis. Ob. CHAROLVS ET IOHANNA REGES. Rev. HISPANIARVM ET INDIARVM. Large "K." Figure "4" below "I" on reverse. Copper.

2430—Four Maravedis. Similar to foregoing.

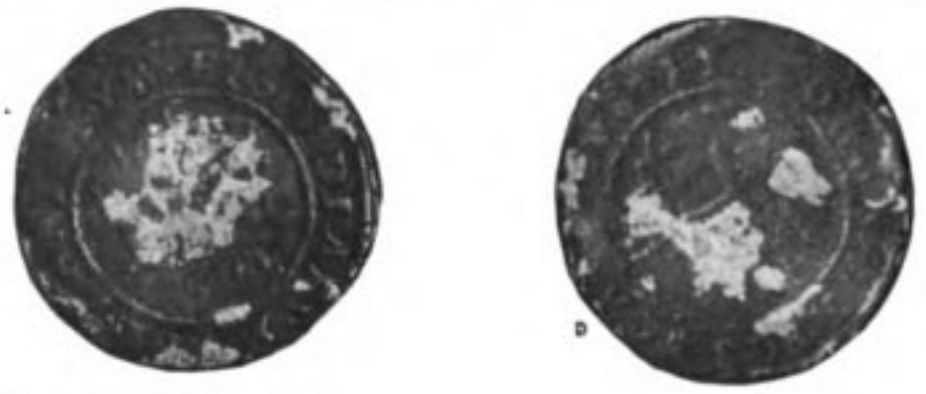
2432—Four Maravedis. Variety.

2433—Four Maravedis. Variety.

2434—Four Maravedis. Variety.



2435—Four Maravedis. Variety.

All the varieties of the four maravedis, of which there are quite a number, bear the letter "M." There is one variety of this denomination which shows the figure "4" on both obverse and reverse.

2436—Two Maravedis. Ob. CHAROLVS ? ? In the field "PLVS ULTR." Below is the letter "M." Rev. "HISPAN ? ? ? V. M." In the field is a castle with three towers. Copper.

So far as known, this is the only specimen of the two maravedis that has come to the attention of numismatists. In the order of June 28, 1542, by which Viceroy Mendoza provided for the coinage of two and four maravedis, it was required that the design of the two maravedis should have on one side a pillar, crowned, with the words "PLUS ULTRA," the reverse to show a castle and crown with the mint mark of Mexico, while it was specified that the four maravedis should have a castle, a crowned "K," with an "M" below surmounted by an "o." The other side was to have a castle and crowned "I," with a lion.

It is said that a one maravedis was struck, but no specimen is known. Medina, on Page 41, gives an interesting account of the copper pieces. He states that at the end of 1545, owing to the poor quality of the copper, and the difficulty of properly striking it, the die of the four maravedis was ordered to be destroyed by the Visitador. It is probable that this coin was not struck after that year at the Mexican mint. The Indians were said to have no liking for this copper currency and threw it into the lake.

This is the only coin we have found with this arrangement of the assayer's initial and the mint letter.

Philip III.—1598-1621

2585—Eight Reales. Ob. PHILLIPPVS III DEI G 1607. "$\frac{O}{F}$M—8."

Rev. HISPANIARVM ET INDIARVN REX. Coat of arms of Castille, Leon, Aragon, Sicily, Granada, Austria, old and modern Burgundy, Brabant, Flanders, and Tyrol. Quadras 8169.

There is another variety of this date and denomination, which shows the final letter "N" instead of "M" in "HISPANIARVM." A specimen is in the American Numismatic Society. The above coins seem to be the first that were struck for the Indias bearing the title of Philip III. The coins of this monarch for the New World were remarkably few. In 1610 a four reales was struck, which is illustrated by Vidal Quadras on Plate 46, No. 4, the coin number being 8171. In 1618 another variety of the eight reales was struck, a specimen of which was in the Salbach catalogue, No. 3235, and illustrated. The latter was a magnificent specimen, the assayer's initial being "D." The U. S. Mint collection has an eight reales dated 1621, the assayer's initial also being "D."

2586—Eight Reales. Dated 1611. Cross of Jerusalem in the field. "M." Blank reverse. Irregular shape. This piece is in a number of collections, but no one seems to know its origin. In the collection of the American Numismatic Society is a piece of similar design, about half the size of the foregoing, which is designated as a four reales.

It was during the reign of Philip III. that the so-called cob money was provided for. This class of money was made by cutting off sections from rudely rolled silver bars and then struck by hammer from crude dies. The first reference to "cob" money is found in a list of books on the subject of coinage in the New World, entitled "Bibliografia Nusmismatica Colonial Hispano-Americana," 1912, by Jose

Toribio Medina of Santiago, Chile. This refers to a contract between the King and a Doctor Vellerino for the application of an invention (of Miguel de la Cerda, deceased), for the striking of coins cut by scissors from silver bars, this method to be applied in the five existing mints of the Indias—namely, Mexico, Lima, Potosi, Santa Fe and Santo Domingo of the Isla Espanola. This contract was made at Madrid, on Aug. 9, 1598.

Philip IV.—1621-1665

2588—Eight Reales. Dated 1653. "$\frac{O}{P}$M." Cob.

2589—Eight Reales. 1656. "$\frac{O}{P}$M—8." Cob.

2590—Four Reales. "$\frac{O}{P}$M." Cob.

2595—Half Real. Philip IV.?

Fonrobert 6262 refers to a one real of 1622 and also an eight reales of 1623, No. 6263. Herrera, Plate XIII, No. 9, mentions an eight reales of 1628. The United States Mint collection mentions an eight reales of 1629 on page 136. Heiss, Plate 19, Page 177, describes a four reales dated 1631. Plate 36. The 1631 four reales is similar in general design to the 1636 eight reales, but the name is abbreviated PHILIP, and between the words on the obverse are little crosses, while between the words on the 1635 coins are small diamond-shaped ornaments. Fonrobert, No. 6269, mentions an eight reales, cob. Herrera XIII., No. 9, cites eight reales of 1628, 1642, and 1643, while Medina. No. 24, mentions one dated 1636. Fonrobert, No. 6265. mentions a four reales of 1636. Heiss lists a four reales of 1639, Plate 36, No. 18. This latter piece shows the mint mark with "P" o "M—4." Fonrobert 6266, describes a two reales dated 1641, and Salbach, 3238, and Dos Santos, 3745, describes a splendid circular eight reales of 1642. The pieces herewith mentioned are all the circular coins of Philip IV which we find on record.

Charles II.—1665-1700.

2596—Half Real. 1669. In the field an involution of CAROLVS, with the figures "69" below. Reverse the lions and castles.

2597—1699. Eight Reales. The only specimen known of this date.

This is one of the very few coins known to have been struck for Mexico bearing the name of Charles II. Fonrobert 6272 describes an eight reales dated 1671; Heiss Plate 42, Page 197, mentions an eight reales of 1674. The writer has seen a cob dated 1678; Heiss plate 42 mentions a four reales of 1679, Medina, 28, illustrates a round eight reales dated 1689; Heiss 32 mentions a four reales of 1689, and Medina 29 and Fonrobert 6271 describe half reales of Charles, the dates being indecipherable.

Philip V.—1700-1724

Philip V. of Spain was the second son of Louis, Dauphin of France, and of Maria Ana of Bavaria, and was born at Versailles on Dec. 19, 1683. He bore the title of Duke of Anjou when, by will of Charles II. of Spain he was called to that throne. He arrived at Madrid on Feb. 8, 1701, but deferred his official entrance until April 14. On Nov. 13, 1701, he married Dona Maria Louisa Gabriele of Savoy. Until 1720 his three favorites—Cardinal Porto Carrero, the Princess of los Ursines, and Alberoni—conducted State affairs. The Emperor of Germany did not recognize Philip, and formed with England and Holland what was known as the great alliance, in which Savoy later entered, as did also Portugal and the King of Prussia. The object was to dethrone Philip, who was the nephew of Louis XIV., and substitute the Archduke Carlos, the second son of Emperor Leopold. The war of succession lasted twelve years. During the early part of the contest Archduke Carlos was proclaimed King of Spain, with the title of Charles III., in Denia, Valencia, Barcelona, Zaragoza, and Madrid, and became master of almost entire Spain, but the allies were compelled to sign the peace of Utrecht in 1743, brought about by the victories of Berwick and Vendrome.

2598—Eight Reales. 1702. Coat of arms of Spain, with the small shield of the three lilies of Bourbon. This coin is probably the first to be issued in the New World bearing the name of Philip V.

2599—Half Real. 1703. Philip the Fifth. Crude as is this little coin, yet it is a good example of some of the coins of the period. It probably shows but little deterioration in weight or design from the time it was struck. The reverse shows the cross of Jerusalem and "PHIL." It no doubt is the first coin of the denomination to be struck in Mexico during this reign, although it is far inferior in workmanship to the eight reales of 1702 shown above.

2599A—1705. Half Real. Philip V.

inscription "PHILIP V. D. G. HISPAN. ET IND. REX." The second form shows the crown surmounting the shield placed at the extreme top of the field and dividing the inscription, which is abbreviated "PHS. V. D. G. HISP. ET IND. R." It is said that the new style of coinage was first issued in March 29, 1732, and that five pieces of gold and five of silver were struck from the dies of each denomination. All of these denominations, according to Medina, are in the collection of Don Juan M. Sanchez of Madrid.

PERU

The royal cedula of Philip II., dated Aug. 21, 1565, authorized the establishment of a mint at Lima. (The text of this cedula is printed in full on page 169 of the work of Medina, entitled "Las Monedas Hispano-Americanas," 1919.) This law provided for the fabrication of silver coins of the denomination of four, two, one, one-half, and one-quarter reales. The design of the real, two reales, and four reales was to have on one side the castles and lions and a granada and on the other side the two columns, between them a "retula," bearing the words "PLUS ULTRA," "which is the device of the Emperor, my master and father." The one-half real was to have on one side an "R" and a "Y," and on the other side the device of the columns, with "PLUS ULTRA." The one-quarter real, or cuartillo, was to bear on one side a "Y" and on the other an "R," with the lettering of "FILIPUS SEGUNDUS HISPANIARUM ET INDIARUM REX." It was provided that there should be placed on the side where are the columns "una platina," or "P," in order to make it known that the coin was produced in Peru.

While the royal cedula authorizing the establishment of the mint was dated Aug. 21, 1565, still the documents now available do not indicate a coinage previous to 1568. As Medina has shown by the documents and information he has gathered that the first mint at Lima probably did not operate more than three years from the above-mentioned date (1568) the coinage necessarily was limited. Indeed, Alonso del Rincon, the first assayer of the Potosi mint (who was the first assayer of the Mexican mint, and probably the first assayer of the Lima mint), states the exact amount of that first coinage to have been 70,000 pesos. On the other hand, Medina shows that the amount was at least 29,597 marcos (about 237,000 pesos), judging by a letter written by Licenciado Andres de Cranca to the King on Feb. 6, 1571.

As the first mint did not operate for a number of years after 1570, and as Viceroy Toledo, in a letter to the King in 1572, acknowledged the receipt of the dies for a coinage of new design, we may safely infer that the first coinage for Peru was that of the design in conformance with the law of 1565. It will be observed that this first law provided for a coinage design in every way similar to that of Mexico's first coinage under the reign of Charles and Joanna, except that the sign of the mint was "P" instead of "M," and of course bearing the name of Philip II.

A full series of coins of this first design are known. Those of the denominations of eight and two reales may be found in the collection of Quadras, which are illustrated on Plate 37, with the numbers 7485 and 7495. We also find an illustration of the two reales in Medina's work on Page 262. Salbach, likewise, possessed a specimen of the two reales answering this description. We find an illustration of a four reales piece of this first design in Heiss, Plate 29, No. 13, and undoubtedly belonging to this first series is the one real illustrated in Heiss, Plate 30, No. 19, and described in the catalogue of the Quadras collection as No. 7496, to which may be added the one-half real illustrated in Quadras over the number 7502, and the one-quarter real (cuartillo) in the Guttag collection, which is the only specimen known.

Thus we have a complete series of denominations as provided for by the first coinage law for Peru, and these are quite certain to be of the first coinage for Peru, and in addition an eight reales piece, although the law of 1565 did not provide for the striking of a coin of this denomination. Nevertheless, this coin answers in every way to the design prescribed, even to the placement of the letter "P" on the side of the columns or Pillars of Hercules. The "R" on the left of the coat of arms on the obverse must stand for the assayer. While Rincon was the first assayer of the first Potosi mint we have no information that he served in a like capacity at the first Lima mint, but he could very well have done so, as the Potosi mint, as shown clearly by Medina, did not begin operations before 1572. The general character of this coinage is so close to the style of the coinage of Mexico at the time of the service of Rincon, even to the style of the letters, that it is quite probable the first Lima mint had Rincon as its assayer.

This assumption being granted, the next question is, What were the first coins issued for Potosi?

New dies having reached Peru in 1572, and as Philip II., by royal cedula of March 8, 1570, had commanded a change of dies, marks, and arms of all the coins in his dominions, we may assume that the new design was similar to the eight reales shown in the Salbach catalogue, No. 753.

This piece conforms with the new design, showing the arms of Castile, Leon, Aragon, etc., a "P" with an "R" below to the left of the coat of arms, while to the right the denomination is expressed in Roman numerals. As Rincon was undoubtedly assayer of the Potosi mint when it first began operations, we can ascribe the "P" for Potosi and the "R" for Rincon. The Lima mint was not in operation when the Potosi mint first began operations. So far we have found four denominations similar to this design, the eight, four, and one-half reales, respectively. Salbach Nos. 753, 765, and 759, while the denomination of two reales is in the Guttag collection. This style of coinage was continued until the end of the reign of Philip II, in 1598.

3993—1568. Eight Reales. Obverse, PHILLIPVS II., D HISPA. Reverse, NIARVM ET INDIARVM REX. To the left of the coat of arms the letter "R," for the assayer, Alonso Rincon, and between the columns the letter "P," for the mint of Peru, at Lima.

NOTE—This was undoubtedly the design of the first coinage for Peru, as it conforms closely with the law provided for by Philip II., on Aug. 21, 1565. There are also denominations of four, two, one, one-half reales of the same design, and the cuartillo. Lima mint.

4074—1686. Eight Reales. Potosi. "VR."

NOTE—This seems to be one of the earliest of the coins struck at the Lima mint after the first coinage in 1568. The first coin we find bearing the Lima mint mark is dated 1685. This is the four reales, Vidal Quadras, 9342; two reales, 9347, and one real, Fonrobert, 8876. According to information obtained from various sources, the Lima mint was destroyed by fire in 1620; resumed operations on Sept. 13, 1659; closed again on April 13, 1660; re-commenced in 1682; ordered to discontinue in 1682; resumed operations by royal order in 1683, but did not actually coin until Jan. 7, 1684 (see Medina, Page 164); mint destroyed by earthquake in 1687; destroyed by earthquake in 1746; in private hands up to 1746; re-commenced in 1748 by order of the crown, but evidently did not strike round coins; in 1751 seems to have made gold coins only; began coinage of silver in 1752 or 1753; order that Lima strike gold coins only issued in 1770; began to make coins with the portrait of the King in 1772.

NOTE—The above pieces, Nos. 4333 to 4147, inclusive, represent a series of coins of the denomination of one and two reales about which no information seems to be available. The design is quite similar to that of the regular Lima issue of the middle part of the eighteenth century, but the workmanship seems to be much more modern. There is some resemblance to the two-real pieces issued in Venezuela in 1818, 1819, and 1820. There does not seem to be any way of accounting for the curious mixture of figures where the date is supposed to be placed.

SANTO DOMINGO

A coinage for Santo Domingo was contemplated as early as 1505, according to information derived from Medina's "Las Monedas Coloniales Hispano-Americanas." Page 115. Medina quotes Libros de la Casa de Contracion of 1505. Folio XLV., in which it is stated that the Governor of Espanola (whose full title was Governor of the Indias and Terra Firma of the Mar Oceano), Don Frey Nicolas de Ovando, represented to the King of Spain, Ferdinand V., then acting as Regent, the necessity for a coinage to be used in the island, and the King in 1505 ordered that the mint of Seville strike coins of a composition of silver and copper "moneda de plata de vellon," for which purpose should be purchased from Genoese merchants of that city 283 quintales of silver and nineteen (less ten libras) of copper for the coinage.

According to the cedula of the King, dated at Seville, Dec. 20, 1505, coinage of the value of two cuentos, or two millions, of maravedis was provided for Espanola. The reales were to be current at forty-four maravedis, the half reales at twenty-two, and the quarter reales, or cuarticos, at eleven. The coinage of copper to be four, two, and one maravedis. No information is furnished as to the fineness, weight, or design of this coinage, but they were not identical with the coinage of Spain, says Medina.

Don Antonio Vives, in his "Reforma monetaria de los Reyes Catolicos," Madrid, 1897, says: "The reales for the Indias bore the devise of the "F." which was shown on none of the coins of Castille. In 1506, 12.301½ reales of silver were sent to the Indias, which there were valued at forty-four maravedis, and 3.915½ marcos of copper coins, 1/8, 2/8, and 1/16, at the rate of 64.8 to the mark, and of the value of 128 maravedis to each mark. Don Juan Bautista Munoz thinks that these coins bore the device of the "F." as did those struck in 1505.

This type must have been continued to 1537, when coinage commenced in the Mexican mint. This perhaps explains the coins which Heiss believed maravedis of special fineness. The design was evidently taken from the Spanish blanca, which bore an "F" on one side and a "Y" on the other, uniting both initials in the same area, and the "F." distinctive of the emission for the Indias, in the second.

Medina states that a merchant of Burgos, named Lope Perez Maluenda, suggested that coins be struck as ducados, doblons, and senecillos, of the fineness, weight, and design of those of Castille, and other coins of lower fineness, "de guanines," of the denomination of castellanos and half castellanos, with fineness of five quilates, valued at 112 maravedis, the half in proportion, these coins to be of a design best suited to the King, and to be current only in Espanola and throughout the Indias.

In 1528, Pedro Hidalgo, "procurador en la corte de la villa de la Asuncion," asked that two millions of coins be sent to Espanola (Medina, Page 116), and on May 10, 1531, the Queen (Johanna) at Ocana, signed a cedula granting a merchant of Burgos, Lope Perez de Maluenda, the right to make, and transport to the Indias two millions in copper coins, "according to the fineness and marks which passed in those parts in the time of the Catholic King." On account of the cost and risk in transporting these coins to the Indias, the real was authorized to have the value of forty-four maravedis instead of thirty-four, the actual value in Spain.

Several applications were made by the colonists for the establishment of a mint in Espanola, but the privilege was not granted until the cedula of May 11, 1535, which provided for mints in both Espanola and Mexico. This law provided that Santo Domingo should have a mint where should be struck reales, two, three, four, and eight reales, one-half reales and cuartillos; that the design of the reales, two, three, four, and eight, should have on one side castles and lions and a granada, and on the other side two columns, between them a label bearing the words "PLUS ULTRA," which is the device of the King (Charles I. of Spain or Charles V. of Germany), and that the half reales should have on one side an "R" and a "Y," and on the other the said device of the columns, with the label and "PLUS ULTRA" between them; and that the cuartillos should have on one side a "Y" and on the other an "R." The lettering of all these coins should be "CAROLUS ET JOANA HISPANIE ET INDIAR." or as much of it as possible, and in that part which bears the device of the columns should be placed a Latin "S," for Santo Domingo.

A cedula dated at Monzon, Nov. 18, 1537, authorized the coinage of eight, four, two, one, quarter reales, as in Spain in the mints of the Indias, which at that time were only in Mexico and Santo Domingo.

Authority to strike coins of silver and copper was also given by royal cedula of Feb. 28, 1538.

It is said by Medina that the Santo Domingo mint was established early in March, 1542, and the officials were: Alvaro Caballero, Tesorero; Rodrigo de Marchena, Alcaide; Francisco Rodriguez, Ensayador; Luis Gomez, Guarda; Diego de Herrera, Escribano; Juan del Hoyo, the viejo, Maestro de Balanza; Pedro Rodriguez de Cabrero, Capataz; Pedro de Caceres, Acunador; Andres Gutierrez, Tallador; and Juan de Najera, Fundidor.

Medina shows in a footnote, on Page 122, that Gutierrez was the first official tallador of the mint.

Whatever coins were made, it would seem that no coins in silver were being struck in 1552 at the mint, judging by a letter written to the Real Audencia, dated April 11, 1552.

An English trader named Robert Tomson, who was in Santo Domingo in 1555, stated that the principal coins in circulation were of copper or bronze.

The only currency for a long term of years for Santo Domingo appears to have been the copper cuartos, or four maravedis, which steadily depreciated in value. According to a letter written by Antonio de Villanueva de la Laguna from Espanola, dated Oct. 11, 1574 (Medina, Page 125), in Santo Domingo, Puerto Rico, and Cuba, the only money was cuartos of copper, which are those that are called there "del fraile," on account of being thin and containing little metal, it being understood that they were the first that were struck in those parts through command of the Catholic Kings, Don Fernando and Dona Isabel, because no others have been coined. They have the value of four maravedis. "Thus the peso of gold is worth 450 maravedis of the said cuartos, which in these parts have been increased to sixteen reales, which are 112½ cuartos, which are called 'pesos of cuartos.' On account of the great abundance of cuartos, and through the great lack at present in these islands of good money, the pesos of cuartos have decreased to such an extent that for a peso of gold are given fourteen or sixteen pesos of cuartos, according to the fineness of the gold. For a toston—four reales of silver—are given three and a half pesos of cuartos. A pound of copper, without being of coined money or marked, costs and is worth five or six pesos of cuartos, which weigh three or four or more pounds of copper. Thus, for this reason, masters of sugar factories are more disposed to melt the cuartos to make boilers than to purchase copper, and I believe that many cuartos have thus been melted."

The author proposed, as a remedy for the evil, that a new mark be placed upon them and that those not bearing the mark should be valueless.

On Dec. 13, 1573, the King issued a cedula providing that the dies and punches with which this bad money had been coined should be broken and melted, and that as a substitute should be struck coins in silver and vellon, as were coined in Spain, conforming to the dies which were being sent. This cedula provided for the coinage of four, two, one, and half reales, cuartos, and half cuartos. The memorandum accompanying the dies is given by Medina on Page 133, and is very interesting, as showing the manner in which dies were made at that period.

"Itemized list of the punches which are being sent to the Real Audencia, which resides in the City of Santo Domingo of the Isla Espanola, in order that may be coined four, two, one, half reales, and cuartos, and half cuartos, in conformance with the cedula of His Majesty of the 13th of December, 1573:

REAL DE CUATRO—For four reales are fifteen punches and a granada, which may serve for this and the two reales and for the cuarto de a cuatro: and for these three coins may serve the larger letters, which are fifteen, and a cross for beginning the legend, which are sixteen pieces. Besides these, there are eight small letter punches, with which may be made the numbers of the coin and sign of having been struck in Santo Domingo, which is an involution of a "D" and an "S," with an "o" above to indicate "Santo Domingo."

REAL DE A DOS—For the two reales there are in another package twelve punches, because for this has to serve the granadilla and the flor de lis which go in the real, and the granada which go in the cuatro reales.

REAL SENCILLO—For the real are fifteen punches in another package.

MEDIO REAL—For the half real, another package contains five pieces, and for the making of the border has to serve that which is in the package containing the punches for the four reales and the larger letters.

CUARTO DE A CUATRO—In another package are five pieces of punches for the cuarto, for which has to serve the granada, which goes with the four reales and the larger letters.

MEDIO CUARTO—For the half cuarto another package contains three punches, and for this has to serve the smaller letters and the border which goes with the one real, and with each legend goes the cross to be placed at the beginning."

According to Medina, Page 126, the President of the Audience ordered the collection of the current cuartos and four meltings were made. An assay showed that they had in silver and copper, all cost included, the value of two maravedis and five blancas. As to the cuartos remaining uncollected the Audience required that they should bear a certain mark and be current for two maravedis. This was done, the mark being a key. Later they were ordered to be current at one maravedis.

The Council of the Indias, on July 25, 1583, ordered that these cuartos should be current at two maravedis, because that was their true value. (Medina, Page 126.)

The cuartos of this character were finally abolished by cedula of July 16, 1595, which stated that, taking into account the inconvenience which was being caused by this bad money of cuartos, on account of having no fixed or certain value, nor to be current outside the island, having on one side a Greek "Y" and on the other an "S," it was commanded that they be collected and newly struck with the design of the castle and the lion.

In a book the statement was made that gold coins were struck at a mint located at the City of Concepcion de la Vega, Santo Domingo, as early as 1502. It is said that during the period of the early part of the sixteenth century 500,000 escudos of gold were annually sent from the Santo Domingo mines to Spain. The same authority states that around 1530 Santo Domingo authorities obtained permission to strike silver one-real pieces.

There does not seem to be extant any precise information showing that gold or silver or copper coins were ever struck in a mint located in Santo Domingo or on the Island of Espanola, or indeed, that a mint ever was placed in operation. But there are a number of silver coins which would seem to indicate that they were struck for Espanola, due to their design and similarity to coins of the period struck at the Mexican mint. Up to this time there are known two varieties of ten reales, three varieties of four reales, and three varieties of two reales, in various collections, and these are the only specimens known to the compiler. Although a piece of the denomination of ten reales was not provided for in any of the coinage laws, still this fact would not prevent the operators of the early Spanish mints from striking such a piece, as they did not always strictly conform to the laws. This is shown by the omission of the eight reales from the early Mexican mint, although such a denomination was provided for by the law. Likewise, in the case of the striking of an eight-real piece in the first mint at Lima, under Philip II., although this denomination was not mentioned by the law ordering this first coinage in 1565. The first variety of ten reales is shown in the catalogue of the collection of Señor Manuel Vidal Quadras y Ramon of Barcelona as No. 6829, while the second variety is in the same catalogue as No. 6830. There can be little question that these pieces were struck for Santo Domingo. The known specimens of the four reales are shown by the Quadras catalogue as No. 6831, and Nos. 4627 and 4628 of the Guttag collection. All of these pieces are different in variety. There are three varieties of the two reales, and these represent the only specimens known to the compiler. They are Nos. 6832 and 6834 of the Quadras catalogue, and No. 4629 of the Guttag collection. There is a piece shown by Medina, Page 143, with a fairly good reverse, indicating Santo Domingo issue, but with an almost obliterated obverse.

Charles and Johanna

Ten Reales. Ob., CAROLVS ET IHOANA surrounding the coat of arms, with an "F" to the left and an "X" to the right of the shield. There is a mixture of letters on this obverse. The "C" is more like a "D" and the "E" of ET is the same sort of "D." The reverse shows the crowned pillars joined by a ribbon, on which are the letters PLVS. To the left of the pillars is the mint letter "S," and to the right the assayer's letter "P." Around the border is the inscription REGIS ISPANIA INDIARO. Here again is a mixture of letters, the "D" of INDIARO being same as the "E" of REGIS. The words on both sides of this coin are divided by an ornament of eight dots. This piece is numbered 6829 in Quadras's catalogue, on Plate 25.

Ten Reales. The obverse of this variety is very like the above mentioned, except that there is an eight-pointed ornament after IHOANA. The reverse is a repetition of the name of the ruler, as CAROLVS ET IOHANA REGIS I, with a cross ornament after the letter "I." The arrangement of the remainder of the design is like the above variety. Quadras, No. 6830.

4627—Four Reales. Ob., lions and castles, surmounted by crown. Around the border the legend, CAROLVS ET IHOANA. To the o left of the shield "F"; to the right, IIII. The reverse shows the two pillars crowned, the legend around the border being REGIS ISPANIA INDIARVM. To the left of the pillars the letter "S," the mint letter for Santo Domingo mint. To the right "P," the mint assayer's letter. On a ribbon across the pillars the letters PLV. (Guttag Collection.)

This variety shows the peculiarity of inverted "V's" being used for "A's" on the obverse inscription.

Four Reales. Ob., lions and castles, surmounted by crown, as on the first variety. Around the border the legend, CAROLVS ET IHOANA RE. The reverse shows the crowned pillars, united by a ribbon or label, bearing the letters "LVS." To the left of the pillars the assayer's initial and to the right the mint letter "S," reversing the positions of these letters as shown on the first variety. Around the border a duplication of the names of the rulers, CAR OLVS ET IHOANA REGIS and the capital letter "E" or "F."

This variety, which is shown in the collection of Quadras, No. 6831, on Plate 25, also has the peculiarity of all the capital "A's" being represented by inverted "V's."

4628—Four Reales. This variety is very much like Quadras, 6831, but from entirely different dies. The obverse inscription reads CAROLVS ET YOHANA R. Only the final "A" is represented by an inverted "V." The reverse is like that of Quadras, 6831, but the letter "E" is not separated from REGIS by an ornament. Here again there is an ornament separating CAROLVS. The letters on the ribbon are PLV, and the mint letter and assayer's initial are in the same position as on Quadras, 6831. All of these varieties of the four reales have similar ornaments in the shape of fleur-de-lis. The above described four reales are all that are on numismatic record.

Two Reales. Ob., CAROLVS ET IOANA surrounding the coat of arms of lions and castles, with the letter "F" to the left, and the numerals "ii" to the right of the shield. The ornaments being tiny annulets between the words. The reverse, REGIS ISPANIARVM ET INDIARV. The ribbon uniting the pillars bear the letters "PL." To the left of the pillars the mint letter "S"; to the right, the assayer's initial "P." This variety is numbered 6832, in Quadras's catalogue, Plate 25.

Two Reales—This variety is distinguished from the foregoing on the obverse by showing the lions and castles in their proper positions on the coat of arms. The left upper quarter bears a castle and the right upper quarter a lion, while on the first variety these positions are reversed, as they also are on the lower quarters of the shield. The inscription is about the same as on the first variety, but cannot be wholly deciphered owing to the poor condition of the coin. The reverse inscription is badly struck, and reads REGIS PANIA with a double-struck lettering evidently meant for INDIARO. The pillars and other parts of the field are similar to the above-mentioned piece, but from different dies. This variety is Quadras No. 6834. Plate 25.

4629A—Real. Ob. Shield bearing the lions and castles, and granada. The legend, CAROLVS ET IhONN. Rev. Two crowned pillars, with "S" and "P" to the left and right. Around the border, * CAR + OLVS + ET + IhOAN + ANA. The lions and castles on the obverse are in the wrong positions, similar to the coat of arms on the two reales, No. 4629. This is the only specimen of the one real of Santo Domingo that has ever come to numismatic notice. No collection has contained it, so far as known, and this specimen did not become known till some time after the preparation of the catalogue of the Guttag collection. It is extremely fortunate that this specimen is in such splendid condition, as it has seen very little circulation since issuing from the dies. Gradually all the denominations of this very early and interesting series are coming to numismatic attention, and we may look forward now to the discovery of the half real, which will complete the series of Santo Domingo's coinage.

4631—Four Maravedis. Do. Second variety.

4632—Four Maravedis. Do. Third variety.
4633—Four Maravedis. Do. Fourth variety.
4634—Four Maravedis. Do. Fifth variety.
4635—Four Maravedis. Do. Sixth variety.

4636—Four Maravedis. Do. Seventh variety.

4637—Four Maravedis. Do. Eighth variety.

4638—Four Maravedis. Roman numerals—IIII. Copper. Ninth variety.

4639—Four Maravedis. Arabic figure "4." Copper. First variety.

4640—Four Maravedis. Do. Second variety.

4641—Four Maravedis. Do. Third variety.

Any one of the above designs may have been that of the original Four Maravedis, ordered to be struck by Ferdinand V. Whether the first design bore the denomination in Roman numerals or Arabic figures there does not seem to be any way of discovering, but we may safely assume that these designs were in use from 1505 up to the time of law of July 16, 1695, when the design of the castles and lions was authorized.

4642—Four Maravedis. This piece shows the design of castles and lions as provided for by the law of 1595, but it was probably issued very early in the reign of Charles V. The obverse inscription reads, "KAROLVS QVINTVS."
